How To Keep Your Healthy Habits "Healthy"

Sometimes overdoing a healthy habit can have the opposite of the intended effect. Here are 5 ways to keep your healthy habits "healthy"...

- ◆ Working out. U.S. Health and Human Services recommends that the average adult get at least 150 minutes/week of moderate aerobic activity or 75 minutes/week of vigorous aerobic activity. Generally, that's 30 minutes of physical activity every day. Too much exercise can result in exhaustion, muscle fatigue and injury. Average adults should aim to break a sweat – if you're completely exhausted after the gym, you might be going too hard.
- ◆ Walking. It's great exercise but if you do it too much, you may end up with chronic foot pain. The repetitive motion can cause plantar fasciitis (also common in women who wear high heels). Your best bet is to get good orthotic inserts with sturdy arch support for your walks.
- ◆ Getting consistent sleep. Aim for 7-9 hours (for adults) per night. Oversleeping on weekends builds up carbon dioxide and doesn't make up for lack of sleep during the week. Think daily, not weekly cumulative hours.
- ◆ Dieting. People who try different "fad" diets often gain back more weight than they've lost. If you want to lose weight, talk to a nutritionist or your doctor for a long-term diet that's right for you.
- ◆ Taking supplements. Many adults take one or more vitamins or supplements every day. However, too many supplements (without your doctor's approval) can interact with other medications and have serious side effects. Vitamin K, for example, can reduce the effectiveness of blood thinner medication. For more info, go to: <https://ods.od.nih.gov>

Word of the Month...

Studies have shown your income and wealth are directly related to the size and depth of your vocabulary. Here is this month's word, so you can impress your friends (and maybe even fatten your wallet!)

Ostensible (os-ten-suh-buhl) adj

Meaning: Appearing to be true but not necessarily so.

Sample Sentence: I listened to the speech, but the ostensible reasons she gave didn't convince me.

Are You In The "Cloud"?

You are if you store and access data and programs over the Internet instead of your computer's hard drive. Simply put, the cloud is a buzzword that means data is stored remotely, not on your device.

Strange But True...

Some animals smell like foods. Mother Nature Network cites these examples:

- Copperhead snakes (when touched) smell like cucumbers. (Don't try this at home!)
- Domestic dog paws smell like corn chips or popcorn. If the smell is strong, better check with your vet.
- Honeybees release an alarm pheromone that smells like bananas. Time to back away!
- Bed bugs release a scent that smells like coriander. If you have lots of them, they smell more like musty gym shoes.

Quotes To Live By...

The key is not to prioritize what's on your schedule, but to schedule your priorities.

—Stephen Covey

Strength is the capacity to break a chocolate bar into four pieces – and then eat just one of the pieces.

—Judith Viorst

Aging is an extraordinary process whereby you become the person that you always should have been.

—David Bowie

Do This Before You Rent A Car

So you're renting a car and the agent asks if you want to pay for the Collision Damage Waiver, which lets you off the hook for damage to the vehicle or car theft. Here are the two things you should check before you answer that question:

- ✓ Your own car insurance policy. If you have collision and comprehensive coverage on your own policy, it generally extends to a rental car. You'll still have to pay the deductible. The same is true for supplemental liability protection if you would damage another vehicle. If your policy doesn't include rental car coverage, see if a "rider" can be added (for a fee) to the policy.
- ✓ The terms of the credit card you will be using to rent the vehicle. Call your credit card company in advance to make sure it provides this coverage, which varies by card in benefits and requirements. Keep in mind that this is mostly secondary coverage – your own car insurance policy would pay first.

- ◆ Group medications together and set an alarm on your smartphone reminding you to take them.
- ◆ Choose from a number of smartphone apps such as Medisafe Meds & Pill Reminder (iOS and Android).
- ◆ Make a written checklist (or use an app like Evernote) and check off the pills as you take them.
- ◆ Associate taking your pills when you do specific tasks, e.g., before you brush your teeth in the morning or before you go to bed at night.
- ◆ Ask a family member to remind you to take your meds.
- ◆ Consider renting an electronic pill dispenser for a monthly fee (like www.MedMinder.com).
- ◆ When in doubt, use an old-fashioned weekly pillbox!

Make Flowers Last

Readers's Digest suggests these tricks for an average-sized vase:

- Sugar & vinegar: Dissolve 2 tbsp sugar in warm water with 2 tbsp white or apple cider vinegar.
- Vodka: Add a few drops to the water to inhibit bacteria growth.
- Aspirin: It's true! Add a crushed aspirin to the water to make flowers last longer.

Have A Laugh...

A tourist was heading to the savannah for his first safari. Having read up on survival techniques, he was sure he was prepared for any emergency. He walked up to the guide and said, "I know that carrying a torch will keep the lions at bay." The guide nodded wisely and said, "That's very true. But it also depends on how fast you carry that torch!"

Monthly Home Maintenance Checklist

Keeping up with home maintenance tasks will save you money, preserve the value of your home, and prevent headaches down the line. There are tasks that you should do quarterly, seasonally and annually, but this month we'll focus on a handy list of basic things you should do monthly:

- Inspect, clean and possibly change the furnace filter.
- Vacuum heat registers, vents and refrigerator coils.
- Use vinegar to clean mineral deposits from faucets and showerheads.
- Clean kitchen sink disposal. Tip: Freeze vinegar in an ice cube tray and run cubes through the disposal.
- Clean kitchen exhaust fan filters and fan blades. Tip: Use a degreaser (buy at an auto parts store) mixed with hot water.
- Inspect dishwasher for leaks. If you find problems, search for info on YouTube or consider calling a plumber.
- Pour boiling water down drains. Tip: If clogged, add a cup of baking soda.
- Inspect all fire extinguishers to make sure the gauges show adequate pressure. Most extinguishers last between 5 and 15 years. It's also a good time to review how to use them.

Note: Save this copy. Next month we'll feature things you should do quarterly.

Reading Nutrition Labels

- In general, it's best to find foods with at least 3 grams of fiber. It's great for digestion.
- Say no to "trans fats." Substitute words are "partially hydrogenated oil" and "shortening."
- Don't focus on "calories from fat." Olive oil and nuts are healthy sources of monounsaturated fats.
- Compare the serving size with what you're actually eating. You may be getting much more or less!

Host A Holiday Party On A Budget

- Limit the number of guests. Or organize a "pot luck" party with your neighbors.
- Visit dollar stores for decorations.
- Stick to your food-shopping list.
- Have a theme: Ask guests to bring a holiday photo of themselves from younger days.

Real Estate Corner...

Q. What's the purpose of a home inspection?

A. A home inspection is generally performed after the buyer and seller have entered into a written contract. It's a review of the home's condition, including the heating system, attic, foundation, and a mold review. The point is to identify any area of the home that needs replacement or repair. Some buyers use the report to negotiate the final price of their purchase.

You may choose to buy a home and make repairs, or you may walk away from the property if the costs would be too high for your budget and the sellers refuse to lower the price or make the repairs. You can get your earnest money back provided your contract has a "sale contingent on inspection" clause.

You'll also need to get an appraisal, which serves to assess a value to the property for financing purposes. You need to know that the property you've selected will appraise at or above the amount you've contracted to pay/finance for it.
